When I was eleven, my father took me to the car race. It was on Vladivostok. Many people were there. When everyone was already, event started. Firstly, riders filled forms. After that, they discussed something. Later began training. Riders rode the track. At this time, father told me about cars. I listened him and looked at the training. Before the main part of event began, we bought some food and water. Then, car race started. I didn't have time keep track to the cars. They drove so fast! I was excited. After that, we got home by the car. I think, car race was really interesting.
